

Blackboard for Students

Welcome

Hi, I'm Jeff Fazakerley with the Center for Instructional Innovation here at Brandman University. Welcome to the Intro to Blackboard Series for Students.

Blackboard is a Learning Management System, and Brandman uses it to facilitate the online learning activities for both our online and blended courses.

Through this video series you will learn how to:

- access your course,
- manage your personal information,
- submit assignments,
- download and print course materials,
- participate in group discussions and activities,
- take quizzes and tests,
- communicate with your instructor and peers
- and view your grades.

This video series is divided up by topic. When viewed sequentially this series serves as an introductory Blackboard training that we recommend all students complete prior to the start of their course. However, feel free to come back and view individual videos should you have specific questions about Blackboard during your course.
